1. INTRODUCTION

This document aims at providing a selected set of good practices of Work based learning (WBL) tools for practitioners suggested and identified by the Italian REFRAME project staff of the lead and project partners as well as from the REFRAME project staff from the partner countries. The proposed WBL tools of this document are the project outputs and results of selected projects carried out from a range of stakeholders including universities, VET schools and other institutions of the education sector, foundations and local regional public bodies awarded as good practices and co-funded from EU or from other donors / international organizations like ILO - International Labour Organisation.

2. TOOLS FOR WBL FROM SELECTED EU FUNDED PROJECTS

2.1 Università degli studi di Modena e Reggio Emilia – EuroDuaLe project

EuroDuaLe project - European Cooperative Framework for Dual Learning

EuroDuaLE is an Erasmus+ Project, involving 13 organisations in 6 different EU Member States. The goal of EuroDuaLE is to develop an integrated transnational Dual Learning framework, where Higher Education Institutions and relevant stakeholders in the labour market establish a synergy and provide students with new curricula, combining formal training and training on-the job, physical and virtual mobility. (Intellectual outputs).

- EuroDuaLe methodological framework for international cooperation for dual learning \(Infographics\) It defines how to implement dual experiences in the context of HEIs (Higher Education Institutions), which are the core of EuroDuaLE framework.

2.2 Federlegno - Fondazione ADAPT – WOODual project

WOODual project - Wood Sector and Dual Learning for Youth Employment and Skills

WOODual is an Erasmus+ Project, aimed to proposing an integrate and complete strategy for improving youth employability and a better school-to- work transition. The project builds up a strong and continuative partnership among different stakeholders active in manufacturing and furniture sector and experts in education and training issues in order to update and improve current professional profiles in wood and furniture sector answering to the skills gap.

2.3 Provincia Autonoma di Trento - SWORD project

SWORD project – School and work related Dual Learning

Project SWORD's focus is on the transition from school and training pathways – particularly technical ones – and the labour market, in order to get school and training systems to guide their activity and to provide an adequate response to the demand of professionalism expressed by the economic and productive world and to the strategies and perspectives of local development. An essential reference at a European level for the school to labour market transition is represented by the Dual Learning System: because of this many country are rethinking/reorganising their school and training pathways in the perspective of the Dual Learning and of the gradual acquisition of elements of this system.

- The “LERNPASS” tool

The tool "Lernpass" (portfolio) provided by the German partner Arbeit und Leben was translated as part of the Sword project, which is presented here as pdf and doc version. As part of the pilot project of the Friuli Venezia Giulia Region partner, excerpts were extracted from the portfolio and adapted to the local context. Here below there is the version, currently being tested in the Friuli Venezia Giulia region, in pdf format.

2.4 Fondazione Centro Produttività Veneto - TRAM WBL project

TRAM WBL project - Engaging SMEs for Quality Transnational WBL experiences

TRAM-WBL project aims to improve transnational Work-based learning (WBL) for VET learners by creating and validating a WBL implementation model engaging companies and VET organisations. Through practical implementation of different WBL approaches and feedback from enterprises, the project will develop hands-on implementation guidelines that will improve significantly the quality of transnational WBL experience for both the VET learners and enterprises in partner countries.
